

BioBlitz

2016 National Park Service Centennial
Sandy Hook BioBlitz Opening Lecture
Thursday, September 22, 2016
7-8 pm
Monmouth University
Samuel Hays Magill Commons, Room 107
West Long Branch, NJ

Join Gateway National Recreation Area and the American Littoral Society at Monmouth University as we kick-off the 2016 Sandy Hook BioBlitz and explore the importance of the Sandy Hook Peninsula as a stop-over site for migratory birds.

Thomas Brown from the Biology Department at The College of Staten Island will present:

Sandy Hook – A Biodiversity Rest-Stop for Landbirds

The BioBlitz Opening Ceremony is free and open to the public.

For addition information and volunteer registration for the Sandy Hook BioBlitz, September 23-24, 2016: <http://bioblitz16.ciesin.columbia.edu/>